

WAIVER AND RELEASE

I hereby grant to National Geographic Society ("NGS") its officers, agents and employees, and any other persons designated by NGS, (i) permission and consent to reproduce and use (including but not limited to motion picture, still photography or on-line representation with or without sound) my appearance, poses, voice, and statements, as well as any entries made by me in the on-line expedition log, and the editing thereof, as well as my identification by name and biographical information (hereafter collectively "my performance"), and (ii) to use any of the above in a work, and I hereby assign all the rights necessary so that the work may be copyrighted by NGS and forever be published, exhibited, broadcast, distributed, used, advertised and promoted throughout the world in whole or in part, in or through any and all media formats now know or hereafter developed. These permissions and assignments do not obligate NGS to publish any such work or use any part of my performance, and if part or all of my performance is so used, NGS will have editorial control over such use.

I further agree that with respect to any personal photograph or footage that I may take using my own photographic equipment while participating in the Sustainable Seas Expeditions, that all such imagery shall be used for non-commercial, research, education and scientific purposes only, and that other than arrangements that may be negotiated with NGS or its subsidiaries, I shall not make any commercial use or exploit for any commercial gain any such images. Any photography, film or images that I may make using the equipment leased or owned by NGS shall be the sole and exclusive property of NGS, and I hereby assign to NGS all copyright in such photos, film or images to NGS. (NGS is prepared to grant to me a non-exclusive license to use such images for non-commercial, research, education and scientific purposes only, worldwide, in perpetuity on a fee free basis, subject to the specific terms and conditions in the attached license agreement for Audio/Visual Works.)

I acknowledge that participation in the Sustainable Seas Expeditions, including but not limited to travel at sea and diving in the Deepworker submersibles can be a hazardous undertaking, and I knowingly assume all risk in connection with such participation. I hereby release and hold harmless NGS, National Geographic Television, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, Nuytco Research, Ltd., and their respective trustees, directors, officers, employees, contractors and assigns from any liability for loss or harm that may occur to me or my property that is not the result of their gross negligence or willful misconduct.
